

universität wien

Department of Innovation and Digitalisation in Law

id.univie.ac.at

Roundtable on Data Protection at European Smart Borders

09.12.2019, 12.00 – 18.00, Faculty of Law, University of Vienna

Passkontrolle
Passport control

Roundtable on Data Protection at European Smart Borders

09.12.2019, 12.00 – 18.00, Top Floor, Faculty of Law, Schottenbastei 10-16, 1010 Vienna

The currently expanding landscape of EU Smart Borders requires a thorough analysis of its impact on the area of data protection. Technologies and processes employed at the Smart Borders are almost entirely fuelled by the personal data of third-country nationals entering and leaving the EU. As the number of foreign travellers continues to grow, and the European Commission predicts that numbers could reach 295 million by 2025, it is necessary to scrutinise the impact of the large-scale databases of personal data in the EU on the scope of the right to data protection. Special attention needs to be given to internal dataflows within the Smart Borders environment, implemented safeguards as well as to secondary use of data for law enforcement purposes. With the help of our distinguished guests, we aim to gain a comprehensive picture of how, and under which restrictions, personal data are protected at European external borders.

Speakers

Julia Antonova (Associate DPO FRONTEX)

Jan Ellermann (DPO's Office Europol)

Joe Cannataci (UN Special Rapporteur on the right to privacy; tbc)

Angelika Adensamer (EPICENTER.WORKS)

Sara Sighinolfi (FRA)

Representative of EDPS (tbc)

Program

12.00 – 12.45 Lunch

12.45 – 16.00 Introduction & presentations delivered by each speaker

14.15 – 14.45 Coffee break

16.00 – 18.00 Moderated discussion

Registration

ID-organisation@univie.ac.at until 01.12.2019

universität
wien

Department of Innovation
and Digitalisation in Law